

1. Investor

- Needs: High-level overviews, document checklists, explanation of requirements in clear language, validation that the project files are complete and compliant.
- Communication style: Less technical, more organizational.

2. Designer

- Needs: Detailed validation of BEP and technical documentation, references to standards (e.g., Czech laws), structured control of documentation content.
- Communication style: Precise, professional, referencing legal texts.

3. Site Manager

- Needs: Pre-construction checklists, validation of document readiness, safety requirements, control of document versions and updates.
- Communication style: Clear, step-by-step, focused on processes.

4. Contractor

- Needs: Simple guidance on what to deliver to clients, handover document templates, basic compliance information.
- Communication style: Very straightforward, no excessive legal jargon.

5. Farmer

- Needs: Document checklists for grants (agriculture programs, environmental subsidies), assistance preparing applications, validation of attachments.
- Communication style: Simple and supportive, step-by-step guidance.